Closing the health service gap in Rwanda

Like many health systems around the world, Rwanda was struggling with easily accessible and affordable healthcare. In an effort to address this, in 2016 we partnered with the Government of Rwanda and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation to offer Rwandans one of the most progressive digital solutions in healthcare. Our service, under the local name Babyl, can be accessed via a simple feature phone and is integrated into the country's National Health Insurance Scheme. With over 20% of Rwanda's adult population signed up to the service, Babyl's doctors and nurses complete over 5,000 appointments every day.
